Reviews

Here is the finest publication we have read right up until now. It is actually written in easy words instead of difficult to understand. It's been written in a remarkably easy way in fact it is only right after I finished reading this book in which basically changed me, modify the way I really believe.

It was then intended to commemorate, as a member of a neighboring Presbytery, who knew something of its history, once observed, some of the most remarkable instances of divine grace ho had ever known, and added, the history of the Wyalusing Church ought to be written that succeeding generations may know what God hath wrought. I am sensible that this sketch has but very imperfectly developed that idea, in fact I have been able to use only a part of the material I had gathered up, lest I should exceed the bounds I had prescribed to myself. Since the discourse was first written, some foot notes have been added, and a brief history of the settlement and progress of the place appended. The account of the aboriginal tribes who inhabited the valley, and of the troubles between the Pennamites and Yankee settlers is easily accessible and has not been repeated. I sought accuracy, consulting where possible, original papers for names, facts and dates. For what is written of the Moravian Mission I am mainly indebted to Rev. E. De Schweinitz of Bethlehem, the biographer of David Zeisberge; for other portions, to the records of the church, the histories of Wyoming, Mr. Justus Lewis of Merryall, and other old people; and to old papers containing obituary notices of the persons whose names have been mentioned. To the members of my beloved congregation, who have encouraged and aided me in its publication, the reader is indebted for whatever of interest or instruction the discourse may afford....
