Daanish Books, New Delhi, 2012. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. After the economic reforms, employers in India, foreign investors, global financial agencies and the global rating agencies have been clamouring for reforming the governance of the labour market and the industrial relations system. They argue that the laws and regulations introduce 'rigidities' in the labour market and disenable the employers from responding quickly and suitably to the dynamic competitive economic system in the globalized economic environment. Two issues have been hotly debated, viz., the legal restrictions on retrenching workers and closure of firms and the contract labour employment system. Both the issues are organically related. It is in this context that the Indian Society of Labour Economics organized a panel discussion on the issues related to the contract labour system in its 52nd Annual Conference. The panellists comprised trade union leaders, senior human resource managers, a labour administrator, legal specialists, academics and consultants. Their papers form the contents of this monograph. The papers provide...
